DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 16, 76, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 87 and 88 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The added limitations to the independent claims now require that the television programs be previously recorded. When the programs are requested by the viewers, each program would be different depending on the comments that have been queried for. Stettner (the main reference used in the rejection) teaches a live television broadcast system that people can search for and be alerted to when a comment is answered or commented on. It is these differences that make the claims patentable over the cited prior art.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Claim 76 is statutory according to 35 USC 101 as it claims a "computer readable storage device." Despite paragraphs 88 and 93 in the published application stating that the computer readable media could be a combination of communication media (such as a wave) and computer readable medium and containing the "or the like" language, the claims are viewed as statutory because they claim a storage device. This device could not be a wave, signal, etc that would make the claim non-statutory.
